

Chip Category Strategic Review

Customer Analytics and Store Trial Performance

Prepared for: Julia, Category Manager – Chips

Prepared by: Kiran Kalisetti

Date: 21 July 2026

AGENDA

Overview of key topics

01	Executive Summary	Top findings and recommendations at a glance.
02	Business Problem	Context, objectives and the decision to be made.
03	Customer Insights	Key customer and spending behaviour insights.
04	Brand Insights	Brand performance and category drivers.
05	Trial Store Results	Impact of the new layout across trial stores.
06	Key Findings	What the data tells us.
07	Recommendations	Actionable steps for the next half year.
08	Conclusion	Summary and next steps.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Five findings that should shape the half-year plan.

- Older, Mainstream and Budget shoppers drive most category sales.
- Older Families on a Budget is the single top-value segment.
- Kettle is the clear category leader, ahead of every rival brand.
- All three trial stores outsold their matched control stores.
- Recommend a phased rollout, prioritising stores like 77 and 88.

BUSINESS PROBLEM

Julia needs clear direction for the FY strategic plan.

- Which customers and brands deserve marketing priority.
- Whether to roll out the new store layout network-wide.
- Based on 12 months of transaction data and a 3-store trial.

DECISION NEEDED

Where to invest marketing spend, and whether to expand the store trial.

CUSTOMER INSIGHTS — LIFE STAGE

Older households drive over half of category sales.

— Older Singles/Couples, Retirees and Older Families make 58% of sales.

— New Families is the smallest, lowest-penetration segment.

RECOMMENDATION

Protect loyalty investment in older-household segments.

CUSTOMER INSIGHTS — SPENDING SEGMENT

Mainstream and Budget shoppers drive category volume.

— 74% of sales come from Mainstream and Budget shoppers.

— Older Families on a Budget is the top-value segment ($168K).

RECOMMENDATION

Build value-focused bundles, not premium-tier campaigns.

CUSTOMER INSIGHTS — BRAND PREFERENCE

Kettle is the clear category leader.

— Kettle outsells Doritos, the #2 brand, by 63%.

— Classic flavours — Cheese, Original — lead sales.

RECOMMENDATION

Protect Kettle's shelf space and stock availability.

TRIAL STORE ANALYSIS

All three trial stores beat their control stores.

- Store 88: most consistent sales growth.
- Store 77: strongest finish, +66% by April.
- Store 86: weakest, most uneven results.

RECOMMENDATION

Prioritise rollout to stores matching 77 and 88.

TRIAL STORE ANALYSIS — ROOT CAUSE

Growth came from more visits, not bigger baskets.

— Customer counts rose at every store, most sharply at Store 77 (+56.7% in April).

—Store 88's customer growth was more modest — check against its sales growth on the previous slide.

RECOMMENDATION

Pair the rollout with basket-building promotions.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Act now to capture the value the data has identified.

Immediate

- Extend the layout to stores like 77 and 88.
- Protect Kettle's shelf space and stock levels.
- Launch value bundles for Mainstream and Budget shoppers.

Medium-term

- Add basket-building promotions to the new layout.
- Investigate Store 86's weaker performance.
- Build loyalty campaigns by life stage.

Future Monitoring

- Track rollout stores for two full quarters.
- Re-test the layout in a wider set of stores.
- Monitor spend per visit as a leading indicator.

CONCLUSION

Roll out the new layout — the evidence supports it.

Category value sits with older, value-focused households, and Kettle remains critical to shelf strategy. The trial layout consistently grew sales through increased customer visits.

RECOMMENDATION

Proceed with a phased rollout, starting with stores matching Trial Stores 77 and 88.